People's Right To Know
Boosted By Court Ruling In Florida Case

Mississippi legislators and other "public servants" who still refuse to acknowledge that the people have a right to know how the business of their government is conducted should find interest in a recent decision by the Florida Supreme Court. It upheld a ruling in favor of a newspaper reporter prosecuted for covering a secret session of a public meeting and affirming the state's 1967 anti-secrecy law. The decision in City of Miami vs. Berns said in part:

"Government today is a complex, complicated, all-pervasive institution which controls or regulates practically every aspect of the daily lives of the citizens. The safety, the happiness and indeed the liberty and livelihood of a citizen might well depend upon his acquaintance with the conduct of his governmental affairs.

"In this area of 'freedom of information' and 'the people's right to know,' it seems to us that we are challenged by the need to lay aside old rules and restrictions which have hamstrung legitimate newsgatherers and effectively barred the people from governmental 'goings-on' hidden behind draperies of secrecy.

"We think the rule should now be that public records, and meetings where the public's business is conducted, should be held open and available to the public in the absence of some reasonable and legitimate restraint grounded on a constitutional or legislative provision or an established rule of public policy.

"The public has the fundamental right to attend the meeting or see the records of any acts affecting their interests. By the rule which we here announce we place the burden on the agency of government to justify a denial of the right.

"Any justification for secrecy must be established by the agency in a determination that the community interest is best served by secrecy rather than by informing the public. Justification for secrecy should be the rare exception.

"The basis for the whole business, of course, is to enable the citizen in a democratic society to be fully informed on the conduct of his government; to have information that is accurate and undiluted; to equip himself to exercise an intelligent suffrage in fairness to his representatives and in the best interest of his community, and, in the ultimate to enjoy the liberty contemplated by the right to know, the right to speak, the right peaceably to assemble and the right to have a part in the government of himself."

Thus, except in rare cases in which an agency of government is better served by secrecy, than by informing the public, there can be no real justification for the secret conduct of public business. This Florida ruling should become a nationwide precedent of legal logic in such matters. — Jackson (Miss.) Clarion-Ledger

100 Held for Racial Brawl at Air Base

By BRENDAN RILEY

Associated Press Writer
TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — More than 600 servicemen brawled Monday night in fighting which a base spokesman said grew out of a racial incident in a mess hall.

It was a third day of racial disorders at this Northern California base, a major embarkation point for Southeast Asia. A civilian fireman at the base died Monday night fighting a blaze which partially destroyed a barracks for transient officers. Another fireman was hospitalized with facial burns and, a base spokesman said, at least five men were treated at the base hospital for injuries received in the fights but were not admitted.

At least 100 military personnel were detained by military police, the spokesman said.

The brawling men were dispersed by 11 p.m. after 300 military security police, plus 78 men from the Solano and Napa county sheriff's offices and four area police departments converged on them in a "large show of force." The spokesman said no shots were fired and no tear gas used.

The dead fireman was identified as James T. Marshberger, 47, of nearby Napa, employed at the base fire department. The injured fireman's name was not released.

The base commander, Col. John Blake, sealed off the base to all visitors and summoned off-duty military police. The base is 45 miles northeast of San Francisco.

An Air Force spokesman said a fight broke out in a mess hall during the evening meal, with blacks and whites throwing salt and pepper shakers and other tableware.

The number involved grew and the men began milling around an enlisted men's barracks area. It turned into an "all out melee" about 8 p.m., about the time the barracks fire broke out, the spokesman said.

Firemen at one point sprayed water from a high-pressure hose on a surging group of men near the flaming barracks.

The first incident was between groups of black and white servicemen, said base information officer Herb Prouty. "I'm sure part of it is racial, but it's not all racial," he said.

A free-for-all had erupted Saturday afternoon in an airmen's club. A half dozen minor injuries were reported in a series of fights which the spokesman said were racially oriented and which continued Sunday.

6-Footers Get Better Pay Than Small Men at Least on 1st Job

By JACQUELINE SNYDER

Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A job applicant's starting salary depends more on how far above the floor his brain is than on what the brain contains, a University of Pittsburgh administrator says.

"Men over 6 feet make about 10 per cent more than men under 6 feet on the first job," says Leland P. Deck, director of labor relations in the university's personnel department.

Deck said a 1967 survey of Pitt business school graduates found a 4 per cent higher starting salary for men over 6 feet and a survey of 1970 graduates found the bonus upper to 10 per cent.

"In 1967, forgetting about the height, there was a 4 per cent bonus for being cum laude," Deck said. "This time I found that bonus was not evident. There was no bonus at all!"

In fact, the tallest graduate surveyed last year had the lowest grade point average, but got the highest starting salary.

"A 6-foot-3 guy was making $813 a month, but a 5-9 guy was getting $734," Deck said.

"The sad thing about this all is that we are not talking about laborers .... I am talking about guys who are being recruited by corporations because they are presumably bright, have got a brain and the brain has been trained.

"Yet they are not examining the brain, they are just hiring on the basis of the length of the spine."

Deck's research was inspired by a visit to Pittsburgh's Duquesne Club, gathering spot for many of the city's top businessmen. Deck, a veteran of 30 years in personnel work, observed that "19 out of 20 were tall men."

Deck said the reason men 6-foot-1 to 6-foot-3 are preferred is that those who do the hiring usually are not sophisticated enough to determine factors such as intelligence and motivation.

"But a tall man can be readily recognized as such by the most dimwitted employer," Deck said.

Deck doesn't apply his theory to women—there are too many variables such as looks and figure—but he claims women generally receive salaries comparable to men of the same height in the same job.

"I do think I have put my finger on a truth, and that is part of the so-called sex discrimination and racial discrimination of corporation executives is in fact height discrimination," he says.

Fake Bill Abolishing Hockey Political Joke on No. 1 Minnesotan

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) —

Gov. Wendell Anderson was leaving through a stack of bills on his desk awaiting his signature when one abolishing the game of ice hockey caught his eye.

"We asked if they really passed the thing," an aide said Monday.

Martin Sabo, a political ally of the Governor, was listed as the main author.

"He was going to veto it," Anderson's aide said, until several staff members could no longer contain the secret that the bill was a phony.

It had been slipped into a stack of bills the governor was checking before signing into law.

The bill said hockey produces "an overabundance of aggressiveness, mayhem and pugnacity" among players who "sometimes become politicians" and continue "to be super-aggressive as they were as players."

Lo the Fouke Monster! It's Here Again

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — The Fouke "monster" has been seen again.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Woods Jr. and Mrs. R. H. Sedgass, all of Texarkana, said they were returning from Shreveport, La., about midnight Saturday when the large, hairy creature crossed U.S. 71 in front of their automobile.

The "monster" was said to have attacked Bobby Ford, 25, at the nearby Fouke community May 2, prompting a search in the wooded area for the creature.

The Woods and Mrs. Sedgass described the creature as being stooped with long, dark hair and running upright across the highway. Woods said it looked like a "giant monkey" and that it appeared to weigh more than 200 pounds.

Woods said when he first noticed it, he thought he would hit it.

"It was really moving fast across the highway, faster than a man," he said. "It's arms were swing kind of like a monkey's. The thing didn't act like it even noticed us. It didn't look at the car."

Mrs. Woods said when she first heard the story about the monster she thought it was a hoax.

"Now, I know it's true," she said.

Elections in Kentucky, Maryland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Voters turned out today to nominate candidates for governor in Kentucky and to fill the Maryland congressional seat vacated by the appointment of Rogers C. B. Morton as secretary of the interior.

Kentucky Democrats chose between former Gov. Bert T. Combs, 59, who resigned a federal judgeship to run his third race for the office, and Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford, 45, once an aide to his opponent.

The primary winner will face a stiff challenge from Republican Tom Emberton in the November election. Emberton, a 39-year-old attorney, was hand-picked by Gov. Louie B. Nunn for the primary and faces only token opposition.

Nunn, the first Republican to occupy the Kentucky statehouse since World War II, is not eligible under state law to succeed himself.

The balloting in the 12 counties of Maryland's 1st District pits Democrat Elroy G. Boyer, a 13-year veteran of the state legislature, against Republican William O. Mills, a nine-year veteran in congressional circles who served as a top aide to Morton.

Both candidates are regarded as conservatives and campaigned on similar platforms.

Hormone Linked to Cancer

By JOHN S. LANG

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration is violating federal law by allowing residues of a cancer-inducing hormone to reach consumers, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., charged today.

Proxmire urged an immediate ban on the artificial hormone DES, known to cause cancer in laboratory animals, and to incite beginning cancers in man, in the fattening of cattle.

Based on Department of Agriculture sample checks, the senator said it is safe to estimate between 100,000 and 150,000 head of cattle containing residues of the hormone were slaughtered last year.

"Thus, the Food and Drug Administration is allowing meat containing DES residue to be sold to consumers," Proxmire said. "This is a clear violation of the Delaney amendment ... which prohibits the use of any food additives that cause cancer."

Proxmire made his charge and his request for stopping use of DES in a letter to FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards.

He noted that 21 countries have banned the growth hormone as has the Common Market.

In addition, Italy and Sweden have prohibited the import of meat from American cattle that have consumed DES and other growth-stimulating hormones.

The Associated Press reported last year that residues of DES were occurring in violation of federal law—and with the knowledge of government agencies charged with enforcing the law.

"I don't see how you can keep it all out," Dr. C. D. Van Houweling of the FDA said at the time. "You can't put an inspector at the shoulder of every farmer, veterinarian and meat packer in the country."

Records show that residues of DES in beef have ranged up to 100 parts per billion in recent years.

Discovery of residues of 45 parts per billion in chickens prompted the FDA 10 years ago to ban the hormone in poultry production.

The FDA says no residues will occur if the cattle industry follows the prescribed dosage and withdraws the animals from the feed 48 hours prior to slaughter. But agency officials also say the findings of residues mean the withdrawal period is not being observed.

2,000 Guards Keep Peace in Chattanooga

By JOE EDWARDS

Associated Press Writer

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —

A Negro was shot to death by law enforcement officers Monday night, but authorities said civil disorders which have hit the city for four straight nights subsided with the presence of 2,000 National Guardsmen on the streets.

Fire and Police Commissioner Gene Roberts said Leon Anderson, 22, was killed as he threw a brick at 12 city, county and state officers who answered a call to an area where sniper fire had been reported on previous nights. He was the first person killed in the disorders.

"The victim was hit in the groin," Roberts said.

State Safety Commissioner Claude Armour ordered an investigation of the shooting, which occurred shortly after sniper fire was reported two blocks from where Anderson was killed.

The trouble erupted Friday night after black soul singer Wilson Pickett refused to appear at a show because he was not paid in advance. But two black ministers Monday blamed the continuing disturbances Saturday and Sunday on police.

The Rev. Paul McDaniel said police swore at blacks, were abusive, used the word "nigger" and arrested innocent people.

The Rev. H. H. Wright, president of the local Southern Christian Leadership Conference branch, agreed.

Roberts said he had not personally heard any officers using abusive language although police had been abused verbally. He would not comment on the other charges but said earlier that one person arrested during the weekend required hospitalization.

Police reported 39 arrests Monday night, 38 for violations of a 7 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew, which was extended for the first time throughout surrounding Hamilton County and nearby cities.

Chattanooga, a city of 119,000 persons with about 40,000 Negroes, had the curfew Saturday and Sunday nights.

Sniper fire was reported four times Monday night. There were three minor fires—at a coal yard, laundry and unoccupied house—and arson was suspected, police said.

Two battalions of guardsmen with live ammunition and fixed bayonets patrolled the streets.

Federal Judge Thomas J. Clary took the case under advisement.

Would Give Rural Voice on Annexation

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — John I. Purdie, a former state representative, told supporters of Act 65 of 1969, the so-called city killer bill, that June is the crucial month to keep more liberal annexation laws from taking effect.

Purdie, the author of Act 65, told the members of the Committee to Preserve Act 65, Monday night, that it would take about 7,000 signatures to have Act 289 of 1971 placed on a referendum ballot. So far, about 3,000 signatures have been gathered.

Act 65 forbids annexation of land by a city without the consent of the property owners. The new act gives the residents a right to vote on annexation, but does not require a majority.

By law, supporters of Act 65 until July 18 to refer the new law to voters in the next general election. If enough signatures are obtained, Act 65 remains in effect.

Draftees Get Rough End of War—Nelson

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today rejected an amendment that would have barred the use of draftees in any combat area without specific congressional approval.

The vote was 61 to 7.

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., who proposed the draft bill amendment, said it was designed to reclaim congressional authority over war-making decisions.

"This is an indirect way to destroy our manpower policy, our capacity to protect our own shorelines," said Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss. "This would hogtie us around the world."

Tunney proposed his amendment as a revision to one sponsored by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., to forbid the assignment of draftees to combat roles in South Vietnam.

Teaching to Protest Unnecessary

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Supt. Carl Stuart of the Conway School District said in U.S. District Court here Monday that "youngsters will protest without being taught."

He said that teachers should try to "create an understanding" among their students.

Mrs. Mildred F. Downs, 53, is asking the Conway School system to reinstate her as an elementary school teacher. Her contract was not renewed this year, after her second-grade students waged a campaign to get raw carrots served in the school cafeteria and broken facilities, such as a drinking fountain, repaired.

Federal Judge Thomas J. Clary took the case under advisement.

Europe Feels Out Russia on Cut in Troops

MITTENWALD, Germany (AP) — The defense ministers of seven North Atlantic Alliance countries began a meeting here today that is expected to lay the groundwork for talks with the Soviet Union on balanced reductions of East-West armed forces.

The two-day meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's (NATO) nuclear planning group has as its formal agenda a review of the Alliance's nuclear strategy.

But it is the first high-level NATO session since the Soviet Union's offer to discuss a mutually balanced reduction of forces with the West, and the delegates are expected to begin formulating NATO policy on the Soviet offer.

This formulation is to continue at the NATO defense planning committee session in Brussels later this week and at the semi-annual meeting of the Alliance's foreign ministers in Lisbon next week.

Attending the session are U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin Laird and Defense Ministers Helmut Schmidt of West Germany, Lord Carrington of Britain, Donald S. MacDonald of Canada, Jacob Fostervoll of Norway, Wille Den Toom of The Netherlands and Mario Tanassi of Italy. An eighth NATO country, Greece, is represented by an undersecretary of defense.

Lairs is expected to present a report on last week's Soviet-American agreement to work on accords to limit antiballistic missiles and offensive nuclear weapons. He said before leaving Washington the current series of Alliance meetings "may be of historical importance" because of the new moves aimed at reducing armaments.

The Canadian minister may give delegates details of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's talks with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin last week. Kosygin and Trudeau discussed the possibility of troop reductions.

Panther Trial Is Deadlocked

By PETER COWEN
Associated Press Writer
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A judge will weigh today a possible retrial for Black Panthers Bobby G. Seale and Ericka Huggins, whose six-month-long first trial ended with a deadlocked jury.

Superior Court Judge Harold M. Mulvey scheduled a meeting of all parties involved in the case. The defense was expected to request dismissal of the case or an early retrial and the release of the defendants on bond. The prosecution was said ready to ask for a retrial.

Mulvey dismissed a jury of five blacks and seven whites Monday after it failed to reach a decision in the trial of Seale, 34, Panther national chairman, and Mrs. Huggins, 23, a local party leader. Both were accused of murder-conspiracy in the death of another Panther.

The jury obeyed Mulvey's instructions not to discuss the trial with newsmen after leaving court. He said their comments might jeopardize the chances of finding impartial jurors in the future.

The jury's failure to reach a verdict after 23 hours of deliberations during six days did not come as a complete surprise.

The jurors could be heard angrily talking among themselves just hours before they delivered a note to Mulvey.

The note said: "We still feel we are deadlocked on all nine charges. We feel it is in vain to continue any longer."

Shortly afterwards, Mulvey declared a mistrial and dismissed the panel.

Seale and Mrs. Huggins smiled as state police escorted them from the court where four months was spent assembling the jury.

Seale has been jailed for 14 months and Mrs. Huggins, 24 years. The Black Panther party issued a statement in Oakland, Calif. on behalf of Huey P. Newton, the organization's minister of defense and cofounder

Merging of Agencies Near Vote

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

House Republicans agreed in a conference today to vote for President Nixon's proposal to consolidate ultimately the Peace Corps, VISTA and other volunteer agencies into a new Action Corps.

Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois, conference chairman, said afterwards there was no dissenting discussion during the hour-long meeting.

He said there was "general agreement that this plan harmonizes the agencies."

Anderson said Reps. Frank Horton of New York and John N. Erlenborn of Illinois, both members of the House Government Operations Committee which handled the proposal, outlined the bill to the conference.

House Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma said he will support the House Government Operations Committee which approved the proposal.

The Senate Government Operations Committee, which also has the plan under consideration, was unable to assemble enough members for a quorum and was thus unable to take action. A committee spokesman said a quorum would be sought for a meeting late today.

One source had indicated the House outcome could depend on how strongly the reorganization is opposed by committee chairmen such as Carl D. Perkins, of the Education and Labor Committee, Joe Ewins, of the Select Committee on Small Business, and Thomas E. Morgan, of the Foreign Affairs Committee.

Under the Government Reorganization Act the merger becomes law automatically unless rejected by either branch of Congress before June 4.

President Nixon first announced his plan to create an Action Corps Jan. 14, telling a University of Nebraska audience the time has come "to forge an alliance of the generations." He has proposed Peace Corps Director Joseph Blatchford to head the agency.

The first step in the merger would combine Volunteers in Service to America—VISTA—with several smaller volunteer programs—two from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's Administration on Aging and two from the Small Business Administration.

This is the proposal currently before Congress. If it is not defeated, Nixon plans to transfer the Peace Corps and the Department of Housing and Urban Development's Office of Voluntary Action to the new agency. The third step would transfer HEW's Teacher Corps to the new agency. This step, unlike the second, would require congressional legislation.

If the three-step plan is approved, the Action Corps would have an annual budget of about $180 million and some 1,600 full-time employees, directing about 56,000 volunteers.

Black Troops Blamed for Asian Blasts

By M. H. AHN
Associated Press Writer
SEOUL (AP) — Black soldiers protesting racial discrimination are blamed for a rash of grenade explosions at a U.S. camp 35 miles south of Seoul. One American and three Koreans have been injured by the blasts.

Five grenades exploded Saturday night and early Sunday at Camp Humphreys. A military spokesman denied a report that two more grenades went off today. He said an explosion had been heard, but it was the work of Koreans blasting at a construction site nearby.

The spokesman refused to comment on reports from U.S. military sources and Korean police that the grenade explosions were the work of black soldiers angered by their treatment by the Army. The Seoul newspaper Hankook Ilbo said 10 unidentified Negro soldiers were responsible for the week-end explosion.

The U.S. spokesman confirmed that a quantity of grenades had been stolen on the base before the explosions. He said this included 50 fragmentation grenades, two incendiary grenades and 16 smoke grenades.

Col. John C. McWhorter Jr., commander of the 23rd General Support Group at the base, offered a $1,000 reward for information leading to the recovery of the stolen grenades. He also announced that any soldier who helped locate them would be returned immediately to the United States.

The American was injured Sunday when he opened a helicopter door and detonated a grenade placed as a booby trap. He was reported in satisfactory condition at an Army hospital. The man was not identified and military spokesmen said they had no information on his race because it is not normally indicated in injury reports.

One Korean employed at the base was injured Saturday when a grenade exploded inside the camp, and two other Koreans were injured in explosions outside the gate. Officials said another explosion occurred in the camp's mess hall Saturday, but no one was hurt. A dud grenade was also discovered outside the mess hall.

Last month about 100 black soldiers from Camp Humphrey forced their way into a Korean bar catering to white servicemen, and eight white soldiers and 10 Korean waitresses were injured in the ensuing brawl.

Later in the night there were fires at the base, broken windows and other disturbances which the Army said had "racial overtones," and seven soldiers were arrested on suspicion of arson and larceny.

About 150 Negro soldiers from units around Seoul demonstrated last Wednesday at the U.S. military headquarters in the South Korean capital protesting racial grievances. They complained of inadequate promotion opportunities, other racial inequality and that a large number of Negro soldiers were confined in the Army stockade.

Argentine Reds Exult Over Captive

ROSARIO, Argentina (AP) — The leftist kidnapers of Swift executive Stanley E. M. Sylvester have described him as an enemy of the people because he works for one of the North American companies the kidnapers said exploit the Argentine working man.

In their second communique since the kidnaping Sunday, the Revolutionary Army of the People, or ERP, took issue with a statement by Sylvester's wife that "he has no enemies."

"It is the people who have enemies," said the communique Monday night. "Their enemies are the exploiters, the large North American companies and the military dictatorship who sink our country in misery, injustice and oppression, and Mr. Sylvester is one of those enemies of the people."

There was no other information or ransom demand accompanying the communique. There were unconfirmed reports that Swift had agreed to meet any ransom demand ERP might make.

Sylvester, 58, managing director of the Swift meat packing plant here and the honorary British Consul, was abducted outside his home by three gunmen of the Trotskyite Communist group. The ERP's first communique, left in a downtown bar Sunday, made no ransom demand but said Sylvester was being turned over to the "people's justice."

som demand but said Sylvester was being turned over to the "people's justice."

A woman identifying herself as an ERP member telephoned Sylvester's wife Monday and told her he was in good health. She refused to answer Mrs. Sylvester's questions and then hung up.

Some 3,500 police, including a special antiguerrilla detachment from Buenos Aires, continued the hunt for Sylvester and his kidnapers. About 50 persons were rounded up for questioning, but no one was charged.

Sylvester has been honorary British consul here for 10 years. He was born in Rosario and holds dual Argentine and British citizenship.

Compares Mills to F.D. Roosevelt

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., was compared to Franklin D. Roosevelt Monday by Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass.

In a telephone interview in Washington, Burke said Mills could "bring us back to the victories of FDR."

"He has the persuasiveness of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the courage of Harry Truman and the personality of Alben Barkley," said Burke.

Burke said one of the problems of those who supported Mills for the Democratic nomination were having, in convincing Mills to become an active candidate for the nomination.

Mills has said he would accept the nomination, but he is not actively seeking it.

HOROSCOPE SENDS HIM TO COLUMNIST

Dear Helen:

I don't "live" by my horoscope, but when it says "Contact a higher up who can be of great assistance to you," well, it makes sense. So here I am. It started when I liked Jenny. She was great to talk to, but I also talked to another girl in school, and I called them both on the phone.

About the time I decided Jenny was my favorite, she heard about the other girl and made jealous remarks. I was thinking she might be right so I stopped calling the other girl the following week, when Jenny up and started going steady with another boy!

You could hardly call it "steady" though, because I hear he even had to be told to put his arm around her.

Then they broke up. I won't call her because it was her petty jealousy that ruined everything. My friends say I still love Jenny and I deny it. But they're right. What should I do?—LOST

Dear Lost:

If your horoscope says, "Forget past misunderstandings and renew old friendships," you'd better believe it! Your advice columnist adds, "Call Jenny!"—H.

Dear Helen:

This is an open letter to my mother:

A while ago I went to you for advice on birth control. Instead I was told to wait until I was older. So I got pregnant.

Now am I old enough, Mother?—S.D.

Dear S.:

Aren't you blaming the wrong person?

Or let's put it this way: A 14-year-old boy asks his father for driver training. The father says, "Wait until you're older." So the boy jumps in the car, takes off, and has a wreck. Does that prove him "old enough"—or just headstrong and foolish?—P.

P.S. Who's at fault isn't as important as "What to do next?" For advice here, please send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope.—H.

Dear Helen:

You know, it's crazy. Five years ago older people couldn't say enough bad things about marijuana, but they didn't have proof, so the kids wouldn't believe them.

Now proof is coming out, but these same oldsters say, "Whoa there, maybe it isn't valid."

In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Harold Kolansky and William T. Moore described the dangerous effects of marijuana use on 38 carefully studied patients. They showed, the doctors reported, marked depression, apathy, passivity, indifference, poor judgment, confusion, poor concentration, etc.

Immediately, other psychiatrists questioned the report, saying there "is no scientific validity" to the findings.

Yet anyone who has come in contact with people in the drug scene knows there IS a big change when a teen turns into a pothead. We've all seen our friends drift out of it when they become heavy users. I guess what WE say wouldn't be scientific either, but they might at least ask us.

In case you're wondering, Helen, I'm "Head" who chided you four years ago for saying marijuana might have cumulative effects which could cause long-term damage. Since then I've learned better. Maybe you were ahead of your time.—

EX-HEAD

Dear Ex:

Thanks for your vote of confidence.

The marijuana controversy rages on, but it's encouraging to note that "anti" letters such as yours far outnumber pro-pot votes in my mail these days. It wasn't always so!

The same is true with clothes. Time was when you wore certain shades if you were a blonde or brunette. Age had quite a lot to do with it, too . . . but now that is taboo. It is delightful to experiment with new colors and we would like to prove it to you. . .

hunt for just the right girl.

Blonde Barbara Anderson, the chief's loyal Officer Eve Whitfield for four season and winner of an Emmy—was married recently to a nonprofessional and pulled out of Raymond Burr's happy studio family.

Viewers, who tend to adopt characters in their favorite shows, resent change. Thus it will be interesting to learn how the show's script writers gently nudge Officer Whitfield out and bring on the new girl.

Soap operas run into this problem often and experience has taught their producers to handle cast comings and goings with care.

Sometime within the next couple of weeks, an actor named Geoffrey Lumb will pull out of an NBC serial, "Another World," retiring from acting to live in Spain.

Lumb has been playing an important character, a lawyer named Mitchell Dru, ever since the series started seven years ago so he and the viewers have been through a lot together.

The usual procedure, when an actor leaves a serial, is to write out his character for two or three weeks. Then somebody else will walk in and pick up the part. The faithful fans understand, most of the time, but when a central figure is involved, it is upsetting.

In this case, the producer decided Lumb's character was so well established that he would be impossible to replace. So Mitchell Dru, like the actor who created him, will retire and move to Spain. A simple but highly unusual solution.

Tricia Nixon and Edward Finch Cox will have a private wedding, but the wedding-loving public will be able to share some of the fun. CBS plans a preview of White House festivities on June 11, eve of the event. Then all three networks will have highlight specials on June 12, one after another and, amazingly, no conflicts in time.

Search Is on for Big 10 Commissioner

IOWA CITY, (AP) — A Big Ten search committee started hunting Tuesday for "the best available man in the country" as successor to conference Commissioner William R. (Bill) Reed, who died last week at 55.

The league faculty representatives, opening a regular spring session with athletic directors Monday, named a five-man search committee and simultaneously appointed as interim commissioner, John Dewey, Reed's assistant the past decade.

Dewey, primarily the Big Ten's sleuth against financial aid violations, immediately requested to be eliminated as a candidate for the permanent commissioner's job.

The conference athletic leaders, although reluctant to show disrespect to Reed, designated a screening committee of three faculty representatives and two athletic directors, stressing that there was no immediate deadline for picking a new commissioner.

Marcus Plante of Michigan, faculty spokesman, said the committee would consult the directors for a qualified nominee who then would be recommended to the Council of Ten school presidents for final consideration.

"The ultimate choice is not restricted to anybody in the Big Ten," said Plante.

"We will try to get the best man available in the country. There is no time limit placed on the selection."

Plante conceded the choice could be made before the conference's no-agenda summer meeting at Petoskey, Mich., Aug. 9-12.

Maumelle Costly to Sponsor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jess Odom, the Little Rock businessman who underwrote the $25,000 PGA satellite, the Maumelle Open, says he is "hesitant" about sponsoring another one.

Odom said he expected to lose some money on the tournament but was surprised to learn that the amount may run as high as $40,000.

The decision on whether to sponsor another tournament will probably be in about two months, Odom said.

He met with members of his staff Monday to discuss, among other things, the poor crowds.

"Maybe it was an educational thing ... the public just wasn't educated enough," Odom said. "We also talked about the ticket prices being too high."

Tickets were $4 for the first two rounds and $6 for the final two rounds.

If the tournament is continued, he said he and members of his staff will attend other tournaments seeking new ideas.

He said he might be satisfied with a satellite tournament for another year or two before shooting for the big name players, but he said they would not play in less than a $100,000 tournament.

Unitas Choice Q.B., But Can He Play?

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — As of today, the No. 1 quarterback for the Super Bowl champion Baltimore Colts still is Johnny Unitas—limp and all. But when he will be able to play is the unanswered question.

"We're expecting him back, but I don't know if he'll be ready by the time training camp opens July 11," said Coach Don McCafferty. "I doubt that he'll be back for the College All Star game (July 30)."

"I don't know the timetable. He got rid of the cast and crutches last week and he's limping around now. You can guess Nov. 1 or you might be right saying Sept. 1. I just don't know."

However, McCafferty is preparing for the possibility that age and injury might mean the Colts will be forced to do without Unitas for one of the few times in the past 16 years. At age 38 with a torn Achilles tendon, Unitas might be through.

"John's age and the time that he injured the foot will be his toughest problem," said Coach Weeb Ewbank of the New York Jets, who coached Unitas at Baltimore. "He might have trouble setting up and then pushing off to pass."

"The worst thing that can happen would be that Unitas can't come back and Sam Hawrilak and Karl Douglas don't pan out," McCafferty said. "Then we would only have Earl Morrall. Then we'd be looking for another quarterback. But right now, we're not looking."

Unitas, who holds numerous National Football League passing records as perhaps the greatest quarterback in history, tore the tendon in late March giving him less than four months to recover.

It took six weeks to get the cast off and now he is undergoing therapy.

Art Wall in Dallas for U.S. Open

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Art Wall Jr., a veteran of the professional golf circuit, led the advance of tour regulars at Dallas, Tex., Monday while a horde of amateurs and pros scrambled for position at 48 other sites in local qualifying play for next month's U.S. Open Championship.

A total of 784 survivors of the local eliminations Monday and Tuesday will join 80 exempt players in the June 7-8 sectional qualifying competition.

In the sectionals, the field will be trimmed further in the battle for starting spots in the Open, to be played June 17-20 at the Merion Golf Club in Ardmore, Pa.

Of the record 4,349 entries, only 150 will tee off at Ardmore—and the odds are stacked against any of the non-exempt golfers making the starting field.

Wall fired a two-under-par 140 for 36 holes at Dallas, where John Schlee, 144, and Bob Dickson, 149, were among other established pros qualifying. Gardner Dickinson, however, failed to appear at his scheduled tee time.

Also among the 38 Dallas qualifiers, with a 154 total, was Ben Crenshaw of Austin, Tex., who tied for the low amateur score in last year's Open.

Pros Dwain Knight and Bob Brue, and 22-year-old amateur Jim Masserio turned in five-under 139s at Albuquerque, N.M., Racine, Wis., and Pittsburgh, respectively, to lead their fields.

Gibson Is Knocked Out by Padres

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

Ted Williams, once a .400 hitter for the Boston Red Sox, is now a .500 manager against them.

Williams' Washington Senators, cellar-dwellers in the American League East, turned on the front-running Red Sox 6-6 Monday night, snapping an eight-game losing streak.

The victory was the 20th in 40 games for the one-time Boston hero as a manager against the Red Sox and sliced their lead to 2½ games over idle Baltimore.

The only other major league action saw San Diego kayo Bob Gibson in the fourth inning and rout St. Louis 12-3, Philadelphia edged Cincinnati 2-1 and Atlanta whup Montreal 9-4.

The Senators rolled—if that's the word—into Boston having lost 18 of their previous 21 games and having scored one lone run while dropping a four-game weekend series in Detroit.

That changed quickly. With Frank Howard belting a two-run homer, his first in Boston since 1969, the Senators jumped on Bill Lee for five runs in the first inning. If you think it was all smooth sailing thereafter, you don't know the Washington Senators.

The Red Sox clipped Casey Cox for a run in their half of the first and shelled him in the third with Carl Yastrzemski hitting a two-run homer and Billy Conigliaro a three-run job.

Williams violated the unwritten rule that says you don't pitch left-handers in Fenway Park, where the Red Sox devour them as between-innings snacks.

But Joe Grzenda allowed only one hit in three innings before leaving for a pinch hitter "We figured he'd just about had it," said Williams and Paul Lindblad worked three hitless frames.

"I figured I'd bring in Lindblad to face Reggie Smith and Carl Yastrzemski and see how he did. I also had Horacio Pina, a right-hander, warmed up."

In the immortal words of Casey Stengel, Lindblad done speldid. He walked Smith but got Yaz to hit into a double play and retired the Red Sox in order after that.

Meanwhile, the Senators nipped Bob Bolin for the tying run in the sixth on a single by Tim Cullen and Toby Harrah's bloop double and got the winner in the seventh on doubles by Joe Foy and Paul Casanova.

Clarence Gaston and Dave Campbell led San Diego's assault against St. Louis and prevented the Cardinals from moving into first place in the National League East. They trail the idle New York Mets by one-half game.

Gaston drove in four runs with three singles while Campbell also had four RBI with his fifth homer, a two-run triple and bases-loaded walk. Gibson, 4-5, was raked for nine hits and seven runs in three innings-plus.

Philadelphia's Denny Doyle has hit four home runs in his big league career. Only two, however, have gone out of the park and both have come off Cincinnati's Gary Nolan. Doyle connected with a runner aboard in the second inning Tuesday night, enabling the Phils to nip the Reds 2-1 behind the six-hit pitching of Rick Wise.

Doyle's blow was the only hit off the Cincinnati right-hander in his seven innings of work.

Orlando Cepeda broke a 3-all tie with a two-run homer in the fifth inning and Felix Millan doubled home three runs in the ninth as the Braves trounced the Expos. Ron Fairly and Gary Sutherland homered for Montreal.

British Determined to Win Back Walker Cup, Lost After '39

By THOMAS A. REEDY

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — Mike Bonallack, the kind of reticent Englishman who never admits the sun is shining until he sees it, vowed today his British team would win back the Walker Cup from the United States this week for the first time since 1938.

"We've got such a good team, all 10 of them, that I don't know who to play and who to leave out," said the 37-year-old British amateur champion and captain.

"We are at least even in the betting and I would put it just a little above that."

On the record this was a long shot.

The British and American amateur golf teams square away Wednesday in a two-day tussel of foursomes and singles matches—24 altogether—in the golden jubilee of the unique competition.

The Americans have won 22 times and lost only once in the biennial battle played on both sides of the water. This time the United States sent here a remarkable combination of age and youth that looks good enough to give a bookmaker the willies.

"I don't care about the odds," said Bonallack, who has beaten the top Americans himself a half dozen times.

"We can, and I think we will, get the cup back."

John Winters, of Tulsa, Okla., the non-playing American captain, countered this brave talk with the comment that "we can adapt ourselves to these conditions even though seven of our team never have seen them."

The conditions he was talking about involved rain and cold descending on the fickle St. Andrews course, 6,951 yards long and par-72 which turns from pussycat to tiger from hour to hour.

Blevins and Citizens, Sheriffs Win

In Babe Ruth League play Friday night, Blevins defeated Anderson-Frazier 17-15 in a free-scoring game. Gregory was the winning pitcher with Howard taking the loss.

In the second game, Citizens Bank edged by Merchants team 2-1.

A pitching duel developed between Citizens' Hughes and Merchants' Huddleston. Hughes had 6 strikeouts to his credit and only allowed 3 hits. Huddleston gave up 2 hits and struck out 4.

In Little League play, Sheriffs' team defeated James Motor 13-3; CBC won over Barry's 7-4 and Lions Club took a 5-1 win over Hope Auto.

Winning pitchers were Mark Dillard for Sheriffs, Carl Lindsey for CBC and Edward Connelly for Lions. Losing pitchers were Richard Fuller for James Motor, Wayne East for Barry's and Steve Gough for Hope Auto.

Owners and NFL Players Discuss Pay

NEW YORK (AP) — National Football League owners began meeting here Tuesday in Operation Clean-up, seeking to finish the work left over from their earlier meetings this spring.

One of the items scheduled to be discussed was negotiations with the players. Tex Schramm of the Dallas Cowboys, head of the owners' negotiating committee, was scheduled to report on the status of negotiations.

Talks between the owners and the players have been stalled since the Players' Association filed an unfair labor practices grievance against the owners with the National Labor Relations Board.

The owners also are scheduled to wrestle with a revised procedure for breaking ties to determine post-season playoff spots and consider possible rules changes involving penalties on plays where there is a change of possession.

In considering the breaking of ties for playoff spots the owners will be looking for additional competitive factors to break such ties in order to make the coin flip procedure as remote as possible.

The rules change being considered involves a change of possession in which each team commits a foul after the ball has changed hands but while the play still is being concluded.

Under current rules, the play is nullified with the penalties offsetting each other. There is a strong feeling that if the change of possession precedes the penalties the team getting the ball should be allowed to keep it.

Rentzel Says Career Still Promising

DALLAS (AP) — Former Dallas Cowboys flanker Lance Rentzel, in an interview with Bob St. John of the Dallas Morning News, said Monday, "I'm more confident in my future than ever before."

Rentzel, who was traded to Los Angeles in exchange for tight end Billy Truax and wide receiver Wendell Tucker, said his probation on a guilty plea of indecent exposure has "forced me to take a long hard look at myself."

"And I can't tell you how much better a man I am for it. It may be the best thing that has happened as far as I'm concerned. How many people are forced to stop and take a look at themselves honestly in their lifetimes? I've got a much better perspective on myself. I know how lucky I am to have things that maybe I took a little for granted before ..."

Rentzel was charged last November with exposing himself to a 10-year-old girl. He pleaded guilty to the charge in April.

British Head Here Are 1971 Hope High School Seniors Who Will Be Graduated Tonight Early for St. Moritz

By GEOFFREY MILLEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
LONDON (AP) — If athletes used to low altitudes perform poorly at high elevations, it figures those trained at a high level will do better at lower heights, right?

That's what Great Britain thinks, anyway. So the British Olympic Association is trying to raise $36,000 to send 140 athletes to St. Moritz for three weeks' training in the Swiss Alps for the 1972 Olympic Games in Munich.

A number of other nations—Russia, East Germany, Italy, Belgium and The Netherlands—have the same idea.

But some British track and field officials oppose the plan, as do a pair of Britain's marathon medalist hopes, Ron Hill and Don Faircloth.

The plan is designed to avert a repeat of the 1968 Mexico City Olympic Games where performances were generally below-par in the 7,800-foot-high city.

The athletes—swimmers, boxers, wrestlers and others as well as runners—would train about 6,000 feet above sea level, then head for the games about a week later in 1,700-foot-high Munich.

A number of British administrators feel their athletes should have a chance to undergo the same kind of preparation as those of other countries. But Sandy Duncan, British delegate to the International Olympic Committee, is against it and some officials have asked the IOC to ban the practice.

Dr. Raymond Owen, official doctor for the BOA, attended a symposium last year on altitude training and said tests showed that 3,000-meter runners working out for three weeks at high elevations ran on an average of 11 seconds faster than those trained at sea level.

Cotton Farmers 'Catch Up'

Arkansas farmers had an extremely busy week playing "Catch up" with the planting and replanting of this year's cotton crop, reports E. R. McInnes, officer in charge of the Little Rock Classing Office, Consumer and Marketing Service, USDA.

The previous weeks heavy rains and cold temperatures foiled the early start of this year's cotton crop. Farmers in East and North East Arkansas eased thru the period-having to replant only 10 per cent to 20 per cent of their cotton acreage. But further South farmers were less fortunate. Some farmers in the South East portion of the state replanted as much as 80 per cent of their cotton crop. Spirits were not dampened however, and farmers spent most of last week in their fields and by the week-end most of the crop was in the ground. Rain over the week-end and improved temperatures should bring these fields rapidly to a stand.

The Commodity Credit Corp. reports that thru May 14, Arkansas farmers pledged 127,383 bales of the 1970-71 cotton crop to the CCC loan. Also

Brady, Ex N.Y. Race Board Head, Dies

SUMMIT, N.J. (AP) — James C. Brady, former board chairman of the New York Racing Commission, and noted for his love of sports, died at Overlook Hospital Monday at the age of 63.

Brady, whose father was one of the leading figures in his day in the racing field, was a trustee of the NYRA and vice-chairman and steward of the Jockey Club.

Brady's thoroughbreds raced under the red, white and black colors of the Hamilton Farm.

He had planned to attend the opening of the Belmont Park meeting Monday where his Jungle Cove was set to run.

Jungle Cove was scratched from the featured Edgemere Handicap because of Brady's death.

Brady served as chairman of the NYRA from 1961 until he resigned in 1969. During this time he guided the construction of the $30.7 million Belmont Park and the multi-million dollar renovation of Saratoga.

through that date notes covering 96,559 bales were repaid leaving outstanding loans on 30,824 bales of Arkansas-grown cotton.

Activity on Arkansas cotton markets continues slow. The supply of cotton available for sale seems scarce. Only a small volume of equities moved thru trade channels netting farmers $4.00 to $15.00 a bale.

We watched that well-known, card-slapper Joe MacGenius go down at three no-trump in the continent-wide charity game. Joe's two no-trump response was the old-fashioned 13-15 balanced points.

North rebid three clubs, in the faint hope that Joe might be persuaded to play in a suit, but Joe insisted on no-trump.

West opened the four of diamonds and Joe started proceedings by going up with the jack. This was a bad guess, but players like Joe always guess wrong. East's queen forced Joe's king, then he led a spade to dummy's king. East held back the ace and Joe had to get back to his hand.

He led the jack of clubs and let it ride. If the finesse lost the dangerous diamond lead could not be made against him. West took his club queen and made the very good lead of the heart queen. Joe won with his ace, led a second spade and went up with the queen.

This time East produced the ace and led back a diamond. Joe's nine lost to West's 10 and another diamond knocked out Joe's king. At this point the best Joe could do was down one. It wasn't bottom score. Some pairs reached six clubs and misguessed the queen to go down one, but it must have tied for low at no-trump. We do know that some players made 11 or 12 tricks while almost everyone came in with 10.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

In Weight Losing Classes

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I signed up for a weight-losing class. Not knowing it was going to be a two-hour course. The very first night, everyone did one hour of exercise. rested 15 minutes, did 40 more minutes of more strenuous exercise and then had a five-minute unwinding period. No one inquired about our age or physical condition. It seems to me this is a very taxing and possibly dangerous program. I realize they expect adults to use their own good judgment but when you're there it's human nature to try to keep up with the rest and the thought of losing weight can seduce one into overdoing. More and more of these classes are being offered in the communities. What is your opinion about this? Is it safe?

Dear Reader—My opinion is that no one should begin an exercise program of the type you described in any of the various so-called health spas or health club facilities without a physical examination and an O.K. by his doctor. Some young people often have heart defects which should suggest caution about exercise. This is why high school students usually have to get a letter or an examination from the family physician for normal high school athletic events.

An exercise program (particularly in adults, and if they happen to be middle-aged adults, it is even more important) should start at a relatively low level and gradually build up. Peak exertion even for individuals in reasonably good condition can be dangerous in the older age group.

I cannot condemn too strongly the indiscriminate use of exercise by nonmedi-

STITCHIN' TIME

By JUDY LOVE

Summer fun and games are right around the corner, and right now is the time to start the action. Crochet is the name of this game for warmer weather fun. The prize is one of the most unusual pseudo-sweater topers I've seen.

Call it a mini-cloak, a clever kind of sleeveless jacket or simply one of the smartest figure-flatterers you ever put on to add a touch of warmth.

You crochet this fashion-right sporter on a Size G hook, using two 4-oz. packs of Bear Brand or Fleisher's yarn. One size fits everyone; the finished measurements before shaping are 16 inches across the front or back. The wide self-belt, crocheted with its own buttonhole, is fastened 14 inches from the bottom. You can adjust the fit by snugging the belt or button placement, of course.

The front panel of this clever half-cloak features a lovely open pattern that's easy to work from the good, clear instructions I have for you. There's a textured front paneling pattern, open work, then a repeat of the panel pattern. The V-neckline and sleeveless sides are finished in an easy se edging.

Wear this versatile crocheted cover-up with casual clothes, slip it over shorts, pants, shirts and skirts, or cal people and particularly for a population in which heart and vascular disease is so common. I am a great believer in the proper use of exercise, but what you have described and what so many of these so-called health clubs offer is not proper exercise. It is dangerous exercise.

Dear Dr. Lamb—What are your comments on the Pill? Does it promote more and better sexual activity or does it just upset normal body health at the expense of not becoming pregnant? It would also be a great benefit if the Pill would cure V.D. besides preventing P.G.

Dear Reader—The Pill has probably relieved a lot of anxiety, at least until more concern arose about its effect on people's health. I don't believe that I can enlarge much on the present warning statements marketed with the Pill.

I can't disagree with your idea that it would be nice if the Pill cured V.D. After all, gonorrhea is now the second most common infectious disease we have, being out-ranked only by the common cold.

Perhaps one day a vaccine will be developed that will eliminate all these problems. It is too bad venereal disease is not commonly spread by some other means other than through sex. It would certainly relieve a lot of social stigma and cause people who need medical help to seek it earlier without fear.

Who knows, it might even result in stimulating enough effort to develop a vaccine. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

even add a newsy touch to a dress by topping it with this novel and becoming conversation-maker.

Instructions to crochet this one-size semi-sleeve are available from your local newspaper. Be the first in your set to sport one. ## Knit Knacks

DEAR JUDY—One time you mentioned something about knitted garments or items you crochet having a custom-made look. I follow your directions carefully, but somehow they often lack what I call a really finished look. Can you help? Thanks.—Mrs. C. E. C., Fontana, Kan.

DEAR MRS. C.: Let's review just what you mean by following directions. Are you positive, for instance, that your stitch gauge is absolutely correct? This is basic to every knit or crochet pattern, and I can't emphasize it enough.

If you are, you're more than halfway home. The final step for a truly custom look is the steaming or blocking of finished garments. Here's what I recommend: with wrong side out, lay your garments on pressing board, pin to measurements given.

Then steam lightly with a moderately hot iron over a damp cloth. Never let the iron rest on any one spot. Steam one side, let dry. Turn, pin the other side down, and steam that side. Then let it stay there until completely dry. Finally, steam all seams and edges.

Your garment will look like a million dollars!—JUDY LOVE

German Quits World's Chess Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
West Germany's Robert Huebner, citing frayed nerves, withdrew from the World Chess Championships Monday before the scheduled eighth game of his quarter-final elimination match against Russian Grandmaster Tigran Petrosian.
Huebner, beaten by Petrosian in 40 moves Sunday after their first six games of the 10-game series at Seville, Spain, ended in draws, said his nerves were too disturbed for him to continue with any chance of success.
In Monday's other quarter-final action in Moscow, Soviet Grandmasters Viktor Korchnoi and Yefim Geller played to a draw after 27 moves of the sixth game of their series. Korchnoi holds a 3½-2½ lead over his countryman.

The other quarter-final series—pairing American Grandmaster Bobby Fischer of Los Angeles against Russia's Mark Taimanov at Vancouver, B.C., and Bent Larsen of Sweden against Wolfgang Uhlmann of East Germany at Las Palmas, Canary Islands—are to resume Tuesday.
Fischer has a 3-0 edge over Taimanov and Larsen leads Uhlmann 4-2.
The tournament will provide a challenger for world champion Boris Spassky of Russia.
At Seville Monday, the British referee offered to postpone the Huebner-Petrosian game for a few days and continue play behind closed doors. But the German Grandmaster refused and Petrosian was declared the winner. The games had been played in a lecture room before 200 spectators daily.

Ask Review of Malpractice Conviction

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court has been asked to open a malpractice suit in which the physician, Dr. Vadee Kroft of Little Rock, was found guilty.
Eugene B. Hale Jr. of Little Rock, Mrs. Kroft's attorney, said that the judgment was paid and appeal dismissed without her knowledge.
Mrs. Kroft contended that she was not adequately represented by her first attorney, Steele Hays of Little Rock.
The case stemmed from a suit by Wilbur Cox of Little Rock in connection with the suturing in July 1969 of a cut he had suffered in a fall onto a piece of sheet metal.
Mrs. Kroft, who was an intern at the time, performed the suture at the Arkansas Baptist Hospital.
The jury awarded damages of $37,000 to Cox for the loss of the use of his left arm.
The case was appealed and a cross appeal was filed, and both were dismissed by the Supreme Court in November.

YOU CAN'T WIN 'em all, not even if you happen to be of that Argentine breed famed for horsemanship. A gaucho bites the dust during a rodeo, South American style, at Buenos Aires.

Civil Defense Sells Off Old Barrels

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Office of Civil Defense sold 700,000 surplus water drums last month but it won't get one cent of the money.

Minor Williams, chief of the Civil Defense Materials Division at Battle Creek, Mich., says the money goes into the government's treasury fund.
The 17½ gallon drums, originally purchased for $2 apiece for use in fallout shelters, were sold at prices ranging from 14 cents to one-half cent each. The average was 4½ cents.

They were declared surplus when civil defense officials concluded most buildings have sufficient water trapped in pipes, water heaters, toilet tanks and swimming pools for a two-week emergency supply in case of nuclear attack.

The drums were left over from 10 million purchased in 1962-1963 after the Berlin and Cuban crisis. The more than nine million drums already in buildings will not be removed, OGD said.

Thirteen buyers purchased the surplus drums, mostly in lots of 20,000 each at six Defense Department depots—LaPorte, Ind.; Shelby, Ohio; Kansas City, Mo.; Fort Worth, Tex.; and Bell, Stockton and Torrance, Calif.

Some were purchased by soap makers for shipping their products to packaging plants. Others were purchased for transporting fish bait from slaughter houses. Much of the surplus was purchased by scrap dealers to be crushed and resold.

Buyers have to remove the OGD identification before using the drums.
Civil defense officials said no other changes in stocking shelters are planned.
But they added they're finding shelter food lasts better than the original five-year shelf-life estimate. OGD sent one million pounds of biscuit stocks to Pakistan flood victims earlier this year.

Jim Malloy: He Quit $800-a-Month Job to Be Auto Racing Pro

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Jim Malloy quit an $800 a month job in Denver four years ago to become a race driver, and if he wins Saturday's Indianapolis 500 mile race a lot of people are going to have to eat some harsh words.

Including, Malloy says, his wife Diana.
"I had had a long day at the Martin Co. office that day," Malloy recalled Monday. "I made up my mind I'd had it. So I locked the desk at 5 o'clock and told them I wasn't coming back."

"At home, I told Diana I was going racing. I left her $100 and I had $120 myself. I've never regretted it, though racing can get pretty frustrating at times."

Malloy, 36, will start Saturday's $1 million 500-mile race on the inside of the fourth row. He considers himself lucky to be in the lineup at all.

He came to Indy at the beginning of May assigned to a car owned by Dick Cecil and admits he had little chance of qualifying the machine. But what he said was a "link in my chain of luck" occurred on the Friday before the first day of qualifying May 15.

Southern stock car ace Lee Roy Yarbrough had wrecked the No. 2 car on Dan Gurney's All-American Racing team. Yarbrough received burns on the neck that prevented him wearing a helmet.

"Dan asked me at 4 o'clock if I'd like to try his No. 42 Eagle. I got about 20 laps of practice, all the time pinching myself because of my good fortune."

Malloy qualified the car at 171.838 miles per hour, one of the most solid of the first day efforts, but since has had the machine up to 173 m.p.h. in practice.

It will be his third Indianapolis start, finishing 22nd in 1968 and 11th in 1969.
Last year was a different story. The talkative Denver native, who says he is the least known driver around the Speedway, had qualified ninth in the field. But a wheel support gave way as the cars came out of the fourth turn on the pace lap and Malloy hit the wall.

He was credited with a last place finish for which he received $13,677.48.

Malloy and the 33 other drivers who will start this year's event played golf at the Speedway course Monday while their mechanics started putting new engines into their machines.

The drivers will participate in carburetion runs Wednesday, when for the first time in Speedway history spectators will be allowed in to watch. They'll pay $1 each for the privilege.

Meantime, there was one switch in driver assignments. Dick Simon, the Salt Lake City businessman, announced he would take over the No. 44 Travelodge Special Vollstedt-Ford qualified in 27th position by John Mahler of Bettendorf, Iowa. Because of the change, he'll drop to 33rd starting position.

Simon owns the car and in one of the unusual happenings at the Speedway was bumped from the lineup by Mahler after qualifying his own car.

Mississippi Vote Delayed by a Suit

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A three-judge federal court is considering a request to delay Mississippi's legislative elections until the U.S. Supreme Court acts on an appeal in a reapportionment suit.

A notice of appeal was filed in federal court here Monday by civil rights attorney George Peach Taylor, sending the case to the Supreme Court.

Taylor said his group asked the panel to delay all legislative elections or those in Hinds County only, at the discretion of the court.

"We hope to file something later this week stating the issues," Taylor said. "All we have done thus far is file the notice of appeal."

State Democratic primaries are scheduled in August with the general election in November.

A reapportionment plan approved by the 1971 legislature was rejected by the court earlier this month on grounds it failed to meet federal requirements. The court, headed by Judge J. P. Coleman of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, then drew up its plan for distributing House and Senate seats on a population basis. It is the court-drawn plan that is being appealed.

The court took suggestions from the civil rights groups which challenged the legislature's plan, but rejected a move to subdivide Hinds County (Jackson) into 12 house districts. It ordered all 12 seats to be filled by countywide voting this year.

However, the court ordered hearings next year to determine whether future Hinds County elections should be by districts after civil rights forces said there was a recognizable Negro population in the county whose voting strength would be lost without a subdivision.

State Rep. Robert Clark of Ebenezer, the only black member of the state legislature, has voiced opposition to the court-ordered plan.

Clark said Monday that the court-ordered reapportionment plan was "the worst possible."

Reform Bill on Elections Is Attacked

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said today an election reform bill in its present form would favor incumbents and millionaire candidates.

The Pennsylvania senator, in testimony prepared for the Senate elections subcommittee, said separate spending ceilings for advertising on radio and television, and in other media such as newspapers, magazines and billboards, are too inflexible for different types of campaigns.

"We must allow candidates to select and use the media of their choice, free from congressional dictation," he said. "Such dictation is already shaping what appears to be an 'incumbent bill.'"

Repeating administration objections Scott said there are "a number of serious defects" in the measure designed to curb soaring political advertising on TV, require full disclosure of campaign financing and encourage more but smaller contributions to candidates.

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., also urged the bill be changed to set one advertising spending limit.

It now limits spending on radio and TV to five cents per person of voting age, and sets the same limit for expenditures on other media.

Although the Senate Commerce Committee already has approved the bill, the elections subcommittee and its parent Rules Committee seem to favor a single overall media spending limit.

Rules Committee members of both parties also have proposed striking from the bill a $5,000 limit on individual contributions to a candidate for federal office.

Scott and Baker, backing this proposal, said if there are to be limits on individual contributions, there must be limits also on how much candidates can spend of their own money.

"It makes very little sense to tell the candidate of moderate means that he cannot receive large sums of money," Scott said, "if we don't tell the rich candidate that he cannot finance his own way into office."

Baker urged a limit on the amount a candidate, or members of his immediate family, can spend on seeking nomination or election.

Scott said his strongest objection to the bill is what he termed the lack of any effective mechanism to enforce full disclosure of campaign contributions and expenditures.

He proposed creation of a Federal Elections Commission to receive and check the financial reports.

Travs Rally But Lose to Albuquerque

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The Arkansas Travelers made a rise Monday night against the Albuquerque Dodgers, but not soon enough to save the game from the Dodgers, who won 4-3.

Left-hander Dennis James of Albuquerque had pitched the Dodgers to a 4-1 lead going into the last inning.

Jorge Roque singled and George Greer doubled him home for the Travelers' next run. The Travelers made another run, but it was not enough to save the game.

Anti-War Rally Gives Bumpers Bid

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — COMBAT will hold a rally against the war in Vietnam at the State Capitol at 1 p.m. June 7 and organizers have invited Gov. Bumpers to appear to inform those attending of his views.

The Rev. Roy Laird, a Negro, said COMBAT has invited the governor to learn his opinion on a number of issues, including Vietnam "which he has so conveniently been evasive on."

He said that Bumpers "has drug his feet" on black employment in state government, even though Bumpers has issued a memorandum to state officials urging that more blacks be hired.

ELEVATORS are rough-and-ready affairs at a space station built in the Indian Ocean off the Kenya coast in East Africa. ## Nixon on Excursion in Dixie

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — President Nixon headed here today on a "nonpolitical" journey into the heart of territory dominated politically by Gov. George C. Wallace, his 1968 third party opponent and potential 1972 foe.

Nixon, who has been rather consistent in wooing the normally-Democratic votes of the Deep South, scheduled visits to Mobile and Birmingham, Alabama's two largest cities.

The President's stop at Mobile was to join Wallace and the governors of Mississippi, Kentucky, Tennessee and Florida at the opening of construction on the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway, a 253-mile canal through sections of Alabama and Mississippi that eventually will link the Gulf Coast with the Tombigbee, Tennessee, Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio, Illinois and Cumberland rivers. The projected cost to the federal government: $346 million.

From Mobile, Nixon flies to Birmingham, the state's population center, to talk about the administration's "domestic initiatives," to editors and publishers from Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi,

Tuesday, May 25, 1971
North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.
It was Nixon's latest effort to sing the praises of welfare overhaul legislation and his proposals for revenue-sharing and governmental reorganization.

Nixon set up motorcades in both cities.
Before going to his Key Biscayne, Fla., home for the weekend, the President took part in the dedication of the Lyndon B. Johnson Library in Austin, Tex., Saturday.

Daughter Julie and son-in-law David Eisenhower were accompanying the President on his round-about trip. Ensign Eisenhower goes to the Mediterranean this week for sea duty with the 6th Fleet aboard the guided missile cruiser Albany. Mrs. Eisenhower will live at the White House until her husband returns July 25 to take up quarters in a rented apartment at Atlantic Beach, Fla., near the albania's home port of Mayport. Next fall, Julie will become a fourth grade teacher in a public school in Atlantic Beach.

SPORT SHORTS
BOSTON (AP) — George "Red" Sullivan, former National Hockey League player and coach, Monday was named chief scout for the Boston Bruins.

Sullivan was released as director of scouting for the Pittsburgh Penguins to take the Boston position. He succeeds Garry Young, who quit to become general manager of the Oakland Seals.
